Partisan Calumny Rebuked.

Used as we are, says the New York Express, to witness the recklessness of partisan detraction and insinuation against candidates for public office, we did not think that it could possibly extend so far as to assail the high military reputation, to impugn the courage, to throw suspicion over the patriotism, and to underrate the public services of Winfield Scott.

It was said that when it was intimated to General Wool that he might be selected by his party as an available candidate for the Presidency, he expressed himself in strong terms against the idea, on the ground that he could not afford to place his fair name and fame in the arena of such detraction as would then, for the first time in his life, be let loose upon them; and in this General Wool acted judiciously. Looking out, from his private station, upon the progress of the present campaign, he has already seen enough convince him that he decided correctly. has seen the attempt made to deprive of his wellearned laurels a general whose matchless bravery as well as sagacity in the field he has had the best opportunity of seeing and knowing—laurels fairly and nobly won at Fort George, at Lundy's Lane, at Chippewa, at Cerro Gordo, and in the capital of Mexico : laurels never dimmed by suspicion, nor compromised by doubt before. He has seen the attempt made to unwrite some of the brightest pages of our nation's history, to prevent its records, to overthrow its authority, and to interpolate, instead of its true teachings, falsehood and slander. Truly, if such is to be the accepted way of conducting a contest for the highest office in the gift of the people, the time has come when the post of safety, as well as of honor, is a private station.

During the Mexican war, in the midst of excitements produced by General Taylor's brilliant victories on the Rio Grande, a popular meeting the New Orleans Delta tells us) was held in the Exchange, in that city. After the particular subjects for the consideration of which the meeting was called had been exhausted by the speakers on the occasion, some individual, who an undress uniform, and who was at the time raising a regiment to proceed to the Rio Grande, saw fit to launch a philippic against the character of General Scott. He accordingly ascended the stand, and, after a few preliminary remarks, proceeded to say that he was going to attack Winfield Scott, and, taking some documents out of his pocket, said that he should exhibit the proof that he was a coward. The word-the infamous word-had hardly escaped the lips of this rash man, when the assembly, in one loud, unanimous, and deafening voice, exclaimed, "It is a lie;" and then there was a rush, as of a tempest, toward the stand, and the reckless speaker was swept from the platform, and hurled into the street, where he would have been massacred by the most excited mob we ever saw, if he had not slank off covertly. The assembly roared and heaved with intense excitement. Fifty persons mounted the stand at once, and were addressing the crowd in a most excited manner.

The revulsion of feeling in favor of Scott, produced by this base and false assertion, (says the editor of the Delta,) was one of the most striking exhibitions of true American feeling and patriotism we have ever witnessed. The national honor had been insulted, our history outraged, by an imputation on one of its most distinguished sol-

Immediately, all his faults were forgotten, and naught was remembered but his gallantry, his patriotism, and his good deeds. Then it was that Major Mountford, a veteran fellow-soldier of Scott, who from some personal difference had been at enmity with the General for many years, took the stand and addressed the excited crowd as follows:

"Fellow-citizens: I am no personal friend of Winfield Scott. I havn't spoken to him for twenty years; we quarrelled and separated. But I'll say to any man who dares to charge him with cowardice, that in his foul throat he liesthe biggest lie that ever passed mortal lips. I, myself, saw him at Fort George, amid a tempest of fire—the crushing and falling of stones, tim-bers, and other objects, produced by the explo-sion of the magazine. I saw him, ther and there, tear down the British flag. I have seen him, too, on other occasions, when he was ever in the thickest of the battle-where none but a brave man would be found."

This speech was received with immense ap-It was followed by others of a like purport, the effect of which was to change entirely the direction of popular feeling, and to show that the character of our great man is dear to our citizens, and that how much soever they may censure and condemn promiment citizens, they will not listen to their traduction and abuse without resenting it. The unfortunate calumniator of General Scott at that meeting has never been heard of in these parts since. Let his fate be a arts during the present canvass.

of this city a few months ago purchased a country residence some seven miles from the city, and added new laurels to our wreath. THE GRATIremoved thence with his family to spend the TUDE AND ADMIRATION OF A FREE summer, and, if pleased with a country life, in-tended to remain during winter and summer. His family consisted of himself, wife, and three SCOTT. We congratulate our country again About the second week after their arrival, the youngest child was taken sick and died ; the next week the second child died, and the wife lay almost at the point of death. The serwant was sent to the city for a physician, and, of any people under the sun. Let our countrymen white driving a valuable horse, drove against a rejoice, and let them pour out their thanks to the milk eart, the shafts of the latter pieroing the side of the horse and killing him instantly. On the servant's return he was sent out to the garden to pick some cherries, when he fell from the tree and broke his thigh, and is not expected to recover. The gentleman, on the recovery of his festations of a people's joy will spread as far and wife, purchased a costly and, as he thought, a as fast as the glorious news is circulated of the having his wife and remaining child in a buggy with him, the borse run away, throwing all out, severely injuring his wife and child, and himself seriously. They all remained a few days at a farm-house between the city and their home. until they were sufficiently convalesced to be removed thither, where they now are. These mis-fortunes, all happening in such quick succession, are truly remarkable. THE WHIG PLATFORM.

The Whigs of the United States, in Convention assembled, firmly adhering to the great conserva-tive republican principles by which they are con-trolled and governed, and now, as ever, relying upon the intelligence of the American people, with an abiding confidence in their capacity for selfgovernment and their continued devotion to the constitution and the Union, do proclaim the following as the political sentiments and determinations for the establishment and maintenance of which their national organization as a party is effected:

1. The government of the United States is of a limited character, and it is confined to the exercise of powers expressly granted by the consticution, and such as may be necessary and proper for carrying the granted powers into full execu-tion; and that all powers not thus granted or ecessarily implied are expressly reserved to the States, respectively, and to the people.

2. The State governments should be held se cure in their reserved rights, and the general government sustained in its constitutional powers, and the Union should be revered and watched over as "the palladium of our liberties."

3. That, while struggling freedom everywhere enlists the warmest sympathy of the Whig party, we still adhere to the doctrines of the Father of his Country, as announced in his Farewell Ad-dress, of keeping ourselves free from all entangling alliances with foreign countries, and of never quitting our own to stand upon foreign ground. That our mission as a republic is not to propagate our opinions, or impose on other countries our form of government by artifice or force, but to teach by example, and show, by our success, moderation, and justice, the blessings of self-government and the advantages of free in-

4. That where the people make and control the government, they should obey its constitution, laws, and treaties, as they would retain their self-respect and the respect which they claim and will enforce from foreign powers. 5. Government should be conducted upon principles of the strictest economy, and revenue sufficient for the expenses thereof, in time of peace, ought to be mainly derived from a duty on imports, and not from direct taxes; and in levying such duties, sound policy requires a just discrimination, and protection from fraud by specific duties when practicable, whereby suitable encouragement may be assured to American industry, equally to all classes and to all portions of the country.

6. The constitution vests in Congress the power to open and repair harbors, and remove obstructions from navigable rivers; and it is expedient that Congress should exercise that power, whenever such improvements are necessary for the common defence, or for the protection and facility of commerce with foreign nations or among the States; such improvements being, in every instance, national and general in their character.

7. The federal and State governments are parts of one system, alike necessary for the common prosperity, peace, and security, and ought to be regarded alike with a cordial, habitual, and halls of the Montezumas, and broke the Spanish movable attachment. Respect for the authority of each, and acquiescence in the constitutional measures of each, are duties required by Who is Franklin Pierce !- What has He the plainest considerations of national, of State and of individual welfare.

8. The series of acts of the 31st Congress com monly known as the Compromise or Adjustment (the act for the recovery of fugitives from labor included) are received and acquiesced in by the Whigs of the United States as a final settlement, in principle and substance, of the subjects to which they relate; and, so far as these acts are concerned, we will maintain them, and insist on their strict enforcement, until time and exther legislation, to guard against the evasion of the laws on the one hand, and the abuse of their efficiency to carry out the requirements of the constitution; and we deprecate all further agitation of the questions thus settled, as dangerous to our peace, and will discountenance all efforts States in Mexico. Subsequently, he was made to continue or renew such agitation, whenever, Brigadier General. He performed no achieveto continue or renew such agitation, whenever, wherever, or however made; and we will maintain this settlement as essential to the nationality of the Whig party and the integrity of the Union.

GREAT ATTRACTION THIS WEEK!

Extensive Sale of Dress Silks, up stairs. SLAGETT, NEWTON, MAY & CO. have reduced the Price of their extensive and well-assorted stock of Bress Silks to about one-half of the original cost, and have removed them to their up-stairs department; each dreso has the number of yards marked on it, and the lowest cash

Ladies in want of a silk dress for the present season or for the Fall, may rely upon getting a very great bargain, (this week only,) as the store will be closed the last of this month. This is also a good opportunity for members of Congress and others who wish to buy a handsome silk to take home, as the prices put on them are much lower than they can be bought in any other city in the Union.

In the same year he fought, as Colonel, in the battle of Fort George. In 1814 he made a new army and restored the military spirit of the country-took Fort Erie-fought the battle of Chippewa-and fought th good fight of Lundy's Lane. In 1832 he won the proud title of the "Hero of Humanity," by nursing the sick and dying troops of his army, upon which the Asiatic cholera fell blightingly, on its march to the field of the Black Hawk war.

In the same year, by negotiation, and not by force of arms, he brought the Black Hawk war to a just and favorable issue.

In the same year he soothed the spirit of Southern Nullification, and saved our country from

In 1836 he served against the Seminole Indians in Florida.

In 1837, with admirable energy and tact, and without troops, he calmed the patriot disturbances upon our extended Northern frontier. In the same year he effected the removal of the Protection from Lightning.

Protection from Lightning.

The undersigned, being the duly appointed Agent of Spratt's Electrican and Electro-Metallurgist Lightning. Manufactorst. Covingion, Kentucky, begs to offer these superior Reds, of Spiral-twisted, Carbonized Annealed Iron, with Zine Protectors, and Electro-positive elements combined in their manufacture; thus rendering them equal to copper as conductors. They are in ten-feet lengths, with securately-fitted brass-screw connecting joints, an entire new style of metallic (patented) attachments, for brick or frame buildings; also, glass isolaters, of a novel and ingenious construction, (patented), forming a lock; the whole mounted with a solid platinum silver point, (patented) twelve inches long, surrounded at the base with three angular negative magnets, which possess the power, to an extraordinary extent, of discharging the opposite elements of the most fearful thunderstorm, and embrace the entire perfection of science up to the present time; the whole constituting the most magnificent and perfect silent conductor ever presented to the public.

Safety has not been compromised by affording these excellent rods at such low rates; the greatest attention has been given to their construction, so as to be readily attached. The astonishing power of the negative magnets, in discharging the air of its opposite elements, has been clearly demonstrated by the Electrometer, when unmagnetized points have shown but slight results, though placed under the same conditions. In fact, they gather and allonty discharge electricity from the atmosphere when you would scarcely suspect any being present.

These improvements being secured by double letters patent, you are hereby cautioned against laying yourselves liable, by purchasing of those who are not authorized, or

Those improvements senig secured by double reteers parent, you are hereby cautioned against laying yourselves liable, by purchasing of those who are not authorized, or who are substituting inferior imitations. All agents duly appointed can show their certificates. Have good rods or none.

CHARLES W. HEYDON,
Washington City.

Washington City.

I do hereby certify that I have app lied various powerful chemical re-agents to Spratt's Patent Points for Lightning Rods, and that the results of these experiments convince me that they will resist the action of atmospheric causes, and thereby preserve the extremity sharp—a condition most essential to protection against lightning. The re-agents used in the above experiments were a solution of chloride of sodium, (common sait, acetic acid, sulphuric acid, and hydrochloric acid. With the first, there was no action on the metal; with the several acids, there was vory slight—a fact sufficient to show that atmospheric influences would have no sensible effect.

JOHN LECONTE, Prof. of Nat. Phil. et Chem.

UNIVERSITY OF GA., October 8, 1850.

The Lightning Conductors of Mr. Spratt, offered to me, are well calculated to perform the office for which they are intended. Yours, truly,

This may certify that I have examined, somewhat critically, James Spratt's Patent Lightning Rods, and that I am of opinion that it is constructed on scientific principles. For combining durability, cheapness, and efficacy, I deem it equal, and I think superior, to any other rod ever offered for my inspection.

Augusta, (Ga.) November 11, 1850.

This will certify that I have examined the Lightning Rods, Metallic Points, and Isolating Attachments, manufactured by Mr. Spratt, and regard them as constructed in conformity to the general laws of the electric fluid; and the metallic compound constituting the Points, as promising, from the result of several tests to which they were submitted, to resist for vears the action of those atmospheric causes most likely to corrode them.

are the best I have ever seen.

It is to be hoped that the use of these Rods may become general, as an important auxiliary defence against a danger which must be regarded as of no ordinary magnitude, to which all buildings are liable.
